THOUGHTS FROM THE PRESIDENT

To our wonderful "Uhl" Family,

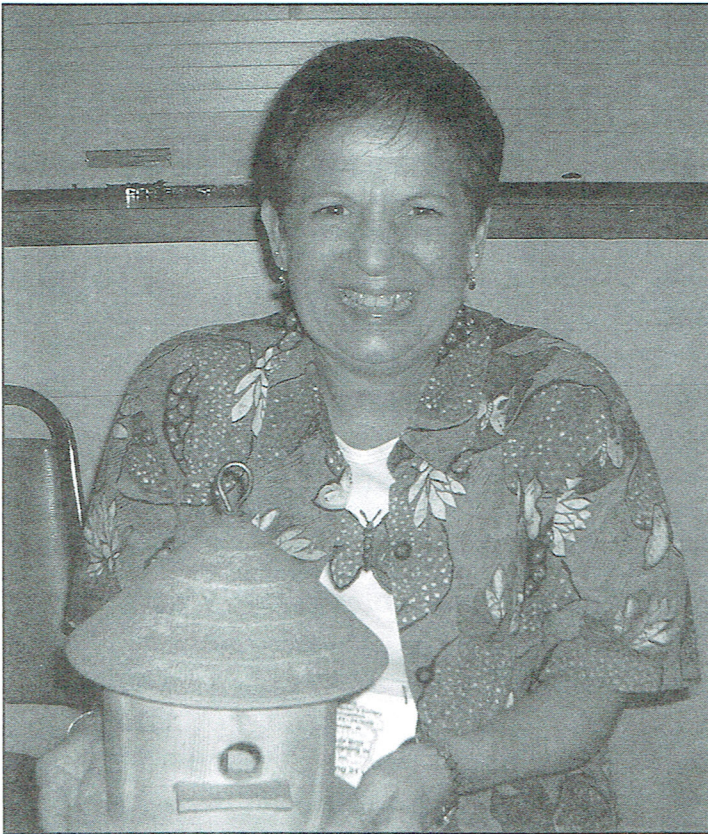

Plans for Convention 2007 were flying all around the room at our recent board meeting. This included the birdhouse mold from 2006 which was hammered into small pieces. We hope everyone was pleased with the last convention and appreciate the kind e-mails and remarks made concerning it.

Membership is very important and hopefully everyone is working to improve our count. The stronger our membership becomes the better club and value of Uhl continues into the coming years. Several auctions have been attended by our board members and reported good buys are still out there. We hope to see you soon at either auctions or browsing the shops around the area. The board has decided to publish a new roster for the 2007 Convention. When you receive your membership renewal, please let us know if you do NOT want to be published in the list or if you do NOT want certain information printed, such as phone number, e-mail address, etc.

March is renewal month. When you get your letter, please treat it like any other bill so you will not be late and disappointed in not getting a commemorative. If you do not get a letter, PLEASE let us know. The birdhouse pin is still available and will be until the next convention. The cost is $5.00 each and mailing of $1.00. The mailing fee will allow up to 6 to be mailed at $1.00. Send to the President or Secretary.

Hope your summer has been great and fall even better.

From the Press Secretary's Desk...

Another Convention has come and gone. We heard many favorable comments on the little wren house commemorative. We think you will be equally pleased with next year's choice.

We welcome Nathan Posey to the board. We are sure he will be an asset to the team. At the same time we know we will miss the Wilsons and hope to serve with them again sometime.

Some of you gave us some positive feedback on the newsletter. We thank you and hope to introduce some new features in the coming year beginning with the Did You Know? in this issue.

Congratulations to Juliann Kunkler on winning the Curio Cabinet given at the Convention and to all who won in other areas including the give-a-ways.

This question was handed to us at the Convention. We asked different ones and each seemed to have a different idea. Can you help this lady?

Question: "Matching canisters/one says Cake. How did they use this piece?"

We are interested, and I know others are in hearing what you have to say about this.

— Press Secretary.

Please remember to send us items, pictures, questions etc. for the next newsletter. We would like some Christmas items since the next newsletter will be December-February.

We are interested in what YOU would like to see in YOUR newsletter. If you have suggestions or ideas please don't hesitate to share them with us.

Press Secretary

Harry Rinker Highlights Uhl Pottery on "Whatcha Got"

Anna Mary Feldmeyer was recently surprised when she received a telephone call from Harry Rinker, a well-known national antique appraiser and authority, who asked if he could interview her about Uhl Pottery on his radio call-in show "Whatcha Got."

On July 23rd, Anna Mary was briefly interviewed on "Whatcha Got." We hope this national exposure will increase the interest in our club and, of course, Uhl Pottery. If anyone was unable to hear the live radio broadcast, they can go to the website www.goldenbroadcasters.com to hear a replay of the show.

Anna Mary's new book Uhl Pottery: Identification and Value Guide, 2nd Edition is still available for sale. If you would like to purchase one, go to www.psci.net/holtzman/uhlpottery.html or call her at (812) 683-3953.

The following are excerpts taken from a letter sent by Susan Taylor.

“Here are photos of the Bean Pot, I was telling you about at the convention. It has an acorn shape with made in USA ON IT. Can someone tell me anything about this piece? I enjoyed my first convention. I purchased three nice pieces of Uhl. Everyone was very nice and helpful. I saw so much UHL that I had only seen in books.”

CAN YOU HELP?

An e-mail arrived just in time to catch the newsletter. The message is from Bill Paul, The Barn/Splitbeard Meadow, 4900 Barnett Shoals Road, Athens, Georgia 30605. He would like some help with his pottery questions.

“I have several vases made in the form and shape of plate number 149, page 81 or plate 146 on page 79 of the recently revised guide to Uhl Pottery. These pieces are glazed white, blue or black. The vases are marked with a number which actually indicates the size of (height) of the vase. In addition there are two ribbed vases in yellow and blue. These vases are also numbered indicating height not shape. The numbered pieces have un-glazed bottoms and they have the same quality of clay and same feel with the glazes. The vases are all glazed with the same color inside and out.

“I have read that these numbered pieces were made by the Kentucky Stoneware Pottery Company from modified Uhl molds, but they could also be Uhl pieces.

“I am wondering if you might be of some assistance in identifying these interesting/mystery pieces. I have marked Uhl vases in similar shapes, but they do not have the rings at the top and they appear to be more refined., All of these pieces look quite comfortable, with each other except that the 12 sample in the numbered group seems a bit clunky.

“One e bay seller indicated that Kentucky Pottery later known as Kentucky Stoneware, bought the Uhl molds and adjusted them. The other possibility is that they might have some connection with early Bauer Pottery. I have another dilemma which I think involves Kentucky Pottery also. The piece looks like Kentucky Pottery except the stamp on the bottom says ‘Cherokee Pottery,’ with an Indian head in the center of two concentric circles. I have seen similar marks that say ‘Great Smoky Mountain Pottery,’ with a mountain image in the center of concentric circles.”

Bill’s address is above or you can email him at bpaul@uga.edu if you can offer him any assistance.
